

Carrolls of Tulla and Lissenhall

Source: "A Long Way From Tipperary" by June O'Carroll Robertson, Images Publishing, UK, 1994

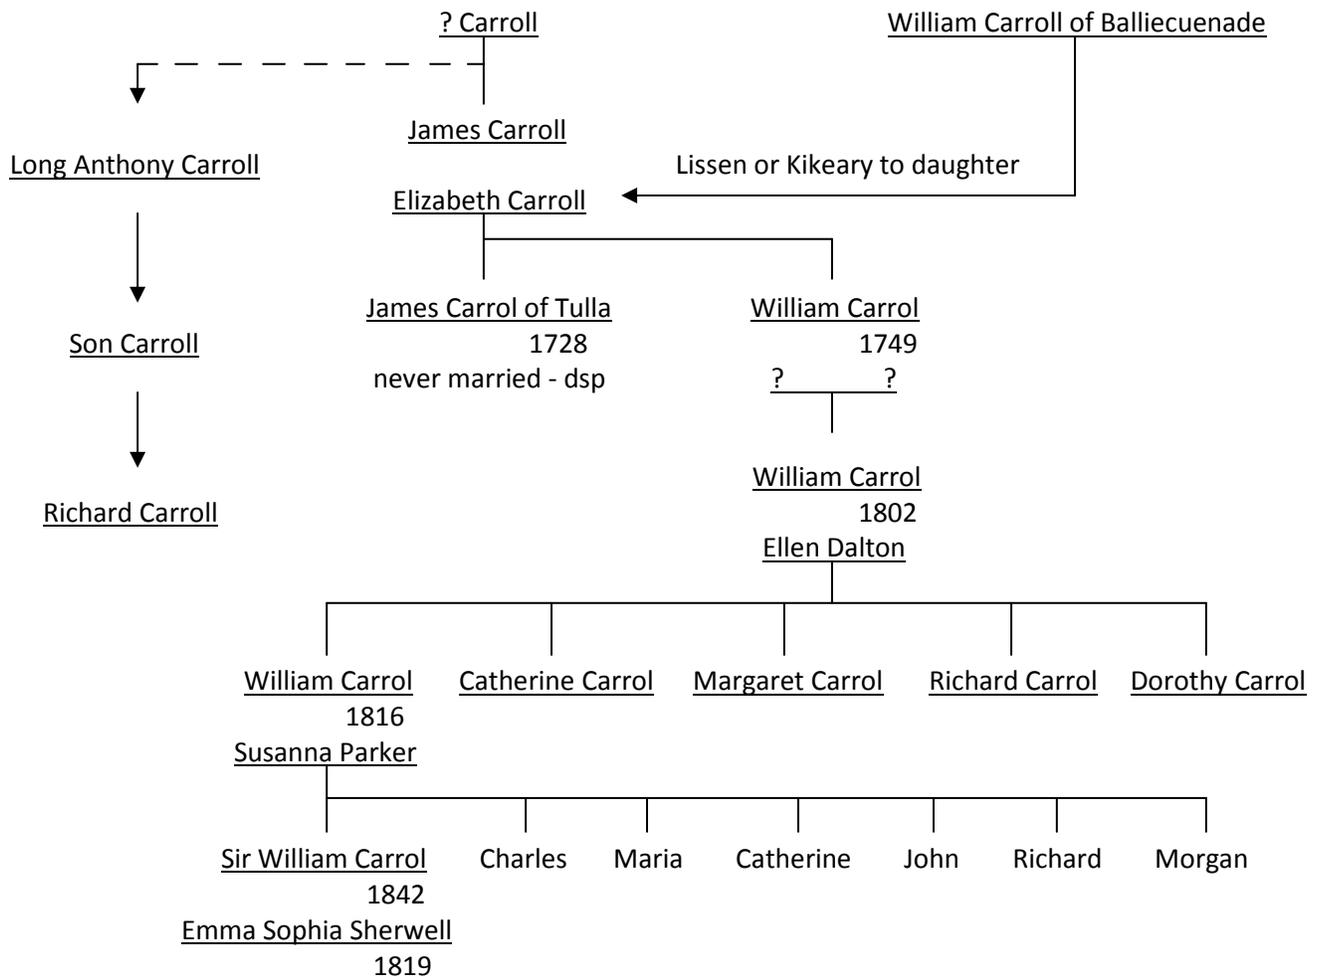

Ely was the baronies of Ikerrin and Eliogarty in County Tipperary and Ballybritt and most of Clonlisk in County Offaly.

O'Carroll Castles: Birr (chief of clan), Kinnity, Dunkerrin and Emmell.

Long Anthony Carroll:

- ~1649 – Emmell was the last castle to fall to Cromwell's Conquest
- 1676 – Colonel John Rose sold Emmell to Anthony Carroll (The Long)
- 1689 – Anthony Carroll commissioned as Captain in KJA (King James Army)
- ~1690 – Anthony Carroll became a Colonel
- 1691 – Anthony defended Nenagh Castle against Williamite forces
Anthony attacked and defeated a Dutch force at Barra bog
- 1712 – Long Anthony awarded his cousin James of Tulla – Lishenalclouta, Garrynamony and other townlands in the Barony of Upper Ormonde, Co. Tipperary. This award was for Jame's military service during the above action.
- 1722 – Richard Carroll, grandson of Anthony, sold the last of his inheritance of Long Anthony's land and holdings.

Pedigree: based on pedigree given along with additional information from book

Note the change in the spelling of Carroll to Carrol

Carrolls of Tulla and Lissenhall