

W. J. J. J. J.

Mr. Thomas Brown, who cut his throat last evening, fortunately did not do so effectually, and there is every probability that he will recover soon. It appears he had been an inmate of the Geelong Hospital for some inmate of the Geelong Hospital for some time, and that on his return here he found his family in such straitened circumstances that he wished to be away from the sight of their poverty, and resolved to destroy himself.